In this year of change, there's a feeling of security in keeping some traditions close in troubled times. Our laptops have become our hearths, as we gather there to stay in touch with our extended family. Now we can have a crackling Yule Log right on our lap, bringing it as close as we can. In the background, we are glad to remember that it is still a wonderful life, and we are blessed with close friends that help keep it so.

On the other side - Santa appears to have some paperwork to finish up. Keeping those lists of Naughty or Nice may not matter as much this year as that list of who you know. We can only hope the new year brings the best of changes.

*We Wish You
Happy Holidays and a Hopeful New Year*
